Chicago, November 6.—The returns from 383 towns and precincts in Illinois give the following totals on the state treasurer: Smith, republican, 54,498; Cronkrite, democrat, 32,502; Bates, greenbacker, 14,737.

Chicago, November 6.—The returns from the city are nearly complete, and show a total vote of 44,710, and the election of republican candidates in the county from 3,000 to 10,000. The plurality for Smith, state treasurer in the county, is about 11,000. The greenback vote in the county is about 40,000. The socialist vote is about 7,000. Returns from the 13th congressional district make it pretty certain that Tripton, republican, is defeated by Stephenson, greenbacker and democrat, by over 5,000 majority. There is nothing definite from the 18th district yet, but both parties claim it. The indications are that the republicans have a fair working majority in the state legislature, though the democrats do not concede it. Adams county elects the entire democratic ticket. Singleton's majority in the state ticket, 1,100. This congressional district, the 11th, will give Singleton about 6,000 majority.

A private dispatch says Townsend, a democrat of Illinois, has been returned to congress by over 4,000 majority in the 18th Illinois district.

Chicago, November 7.—Forsyth, greenbacker, is elected to congress over Decins dem., in the 15th Indiana district.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The democrats concede that the republicans have a working majority in the legislature. The congressional delegation has changed considerably in complexion since last night. Tipton's defeat is assured. Tiffere is some doubt of Boyd's election. Forsythe has been elected over Decius. Morrison's election is doubtful. The Illinois delegation will have a republican gain of two, and possibly three, counting Forsythe respective.

Tennessee.

Nashville, November 6.— The official vote in Nashville gives Marks 1,959 majority over Edwards, greenbacker, and 450 majority over both republican and greenback candsdates. House, dem, for congress has 320 majority over the republican, greenback and republican candidates. House's majority over the leading competitor is 1,808. The democrats will have an increased representation in the legislature.

Memphis gives Casey Young, independent dem, for congress 769 majority. His estiestimated majority in the county is 1,000, which will be increased by returns from Fayette and Hardeman counties.

Nashville, November 6.—There is no longer any doubt of the election of Whitthorne in the seventh and McMillan in the fourth congressional districts. This gives the democrats the entire congressional delegation, except Houck, rep., from the first district. Marks, dem, for governor, has received more votes than both his opponents.

disappointment, it is well to know that quickest and the surest relief. Massachusetts has put her foot on Butler and Kearney. This is due to the democracy of the Bay State.

THE democracy of Georgia is slightly disfigured, but still in the ring-a statement that will doubtless give the independent an opportunity to say all sorts of puzzling things about the "ring."

THE independents in the seventh ought to be very grateful to the republicans. But for the solid support of the negroes, who held the balance of power, Judge Lester would now be the congressman from that district.

THE latest telegrams from the ninth district indicate the election of Colonel Billups, the democratic nominee, by a small majority. Our Gainesville telegram is from Mr. Henry Jones, of the Eagle who is very careful in his statements. His figures, therefore, may be relied upon as substantially correct.

THE Columbus Enquirer-Sun, which has put in some solid work for Harris for congress in the fourth district, concedes the election of Captain Henry Persons. THE CONSTITUTION supported Mr. Harris in the race, but we have this consola tion: that Captain Persons is one of the ablest men in the district, and will make an excellent representative.

THEY tell us that Judge Lester is de feated in the seventh. Well, it is hard to reconcile ourselves to the fact, but his determined effort on the part of the democracy to redeem the seventh from the dangers of independentism. Temporary defeat amounts to very little in the longrun, so far as the democracy is concerned; but this we know, that independentism in the seventh district is doomed. Bu for the solid republican vote which stands pledged to Dr. Felton, there never would have been, and there would not be now such a thing as an independent candidate in that district.

During the last hours of the campaign in the ninth, Mr. Speer's friends were engaged in proving that he was not It is a great pity that there are enough fools in politics to make it necessary for gentlemen to defend their private character and reputation against the ssaults of unscrupulous and irresponsible men. The slanders circulated against Judge Lester by the Felton papers were manifold and desperate; but, so far as we have observed, not a single democratic paper has made an attack upon the private character of Dr. Felton. In this respect the democratic campaign all the way through has been a signal rebuke to the irresponsible partisanship which dictated the absurd personal attacks upon Judge Lester. But for the radical vote, such a policy would have left the independent candidate high and dry.

Organization of the Legislature.

The general assembly met in the capi tol building yesterday morning at ten o'clock, and immediately proceeded to organize. The details of this orzation will be found embodied in our regular report of the proceedings. In the senate, Hon. Rufus E. It is a great pity that Col. Philip H. Raiord is not alive to know that a survey is bout to be made of his long-projected inland water-way from New Orleans to Florida. If this canal is ever completed, together with an entirely practicable ship canal across Florida, it would connect the Atlantic coast with the great granaries of he west, and tow-boats with their comlements of barges could come from St. ouis and Cincinnati to Savannah without breaking bulk. Colonel Raiford was an enthusiast upon this subject. It Iwas the dream of his life, and he was able to demonstrate its practicability in a thousand different ways. He called the attention of General Grant, himself an acomplished civil engineer, to the feasibility of the land-locked channel along the not only ruined their own cause, but they gulf coast, and so forcibly was Grant struck with the project, that he alluded to it in one of his annual messages, and ecommended that an appropriation be nade for the survey of the route. The survey of the route will be made by Major Charles Mahon, of the United States engineers, and will be prosecuted under instructions from Major Q. A. Gillmore, of the engineer corps. The average voter in some of the manufacturing districts in New England are not better informed than some of the more intelligent voters among the colored people at the south, and it is possible that somewhat similar arguments were used to induce them to vote against their better judgment. But, at any rate, fiatism in finance received its death-blow vesterday, while greenbackism, as embodied in the policy of the democratic party, still lives to work out the salvation of the people. From Massachusetts to the fifth district in Georgia, its defeat has been overwhelming. This, of itself, is something of a victory, for the true democandidacy is merely the beginning of a cratic greenbackers can now go forward in the work of financial reform unembarrassed by the wild theories of such men as Brick Pomeroy, Blanton Duncan and Sam. Carev.

Will the Next House be Democratic

Now that the smoke of the local contests is clearing away, we can see beyond the great prize for which the two old parties contended with a tenacity and determination that was only commensurate with its value either now or hereafter -the control of the next house of representatives. There is no use of wasting words in presenting the importance of control of the house in preparing for, and possibly, in deciding the next presidential contest-nothing is to be gained in that way now that the ballots are cast; let us therefore proceed at once to a survey of the field in order to ascertein who really holds possession of it. The problem, it must be admitted, is a First, as to the control of the state dele gations. The states are divided between the two old parties, and we may as well make up parallel tables:

The result in Nevada will soon be known. The state is entitled to but one member of the house of representatives. Colored men foot up $5,124,875, a decrease the sitting member, Mr. Thomas Wren, of $305,969. Neither race nor previous is a republican. He was elected by 911 majority. The wires will soon take this tate out of the "doubtful" list. Mr. W. E. F. Neal is the democratic, and Mr. R. M. Daggett the republican candidate.

In the Indiana delegation Rev. Mr. De La Matyr, a greenbacker of republican antecedents, holds the balance of power. He was elected by the democrats and greenbackers of the Indianapolis district. He is a man of strong expressions and strong prejudices. He has frequently since his election in October denounce the republican party as the source class legislation and general distress, and has as often advocated an union of the two other parties. During the last twenty days he has been engaged in stumping Massachusetts in behalf of Ben. Butler These are the facts relative to the prob able composition of the house as president-maker. The reader can judge for himself. We have only this advantage securely in hand, namely, we need but two of the three states, while the repubtion is useless. The actual numerical strength of th parties in the next house is best shown in a table that embodies the latest infor

We have claimed the whole of the Kentucky delegation, although the doubtful mountain district has not been heard from The Acklen district in Louisiana is disputed. We have claimed one doubtful district in each of the Carolinas. But we believe all of these claims are justified. The Comptroller-General's Report. The report before us was prepared by olonel Goldsmith, not because the law required it, but because he thought the w-making branch of the state government would need the information it con tains. It presents the operations of the comptroller-general's office from January

l up to the first day of last month-a pe riod of ten instead of the twelve months. In connection with the decrease in taxable values ($9,437,812) during the past year, the comptroller-general calls attention to the inequalities of valuation that have long existed in the state. The evil complained of is of a two-fold naturenequal valuation and no valuation Property of the same value is returned at various figures, there being no common basis, no method of equalization, while a considerable amount of property, not exempt by law, is not returned at any price.

the justice of an equal distribution of the burdens of taxation, it is one that the legislature should carefully consider and determinedly wrestle with. The loss on valuations is not attributable to any laxity of effort on the part of the comptroller-general or of the local tax officers-859,382 more acres of improved land, 1,048,613 more acres of unimproved land and more of most other kinds of property are embraced in this years. This is right. The citizen who, living at the south during the war, was a "loyalist" and a union man, is a fraud and a humbug, and every claim of this sort paid by the government is a swindle upon the people. John Sherman boasts that the republicans have paid one hundred millions of these bogus claims, but it will be the duty of democrat lask and saked Lum to take a drink. Lum declined at first, but upon Dennis insisting, he finally took a small drink of what appeared to be whisky, returned to the church and took a positon among the congregation. In a short time he was seized with violent convulsions and seemed about to die. He was carried out, placed in a wagon and brought to Dr. Durham, in Thomson, for medical treatment. Antidotes and restoratives were administered and Lum was soon relieved. The negroes further state that Dennis, after giving Lum the drink, was seen to hide the bottle under a log, and when Lum was taken sick so suddenly, and suspecting foul play, they got the bottle and brought it to Thomson. Drs. Durham and Harrison made a partial analysis of its contents and found unmistakable evidences of strychnine. This is about the substance of one side of the case. On Saturday last, nearly a week after the alleged poisoning, Dennis was arrested and lodged in jail. Gentlemen—You have my thanks and my gratifude. This mark of distinction, so unanimously and so generously bestowed, is not only gratifying, but it places me under obligation to endeavor to merit your confidence and favor. The discharge of the duties imposed by the law and your rules upon this station will be my purpose, and in this I ask your liberal indulgence.

The general assembly, for the first time in years, meets to-day to pledge fealty to a constitution created by the willing aufrage of the people.

The advent of this new goverament of Georgia marks an ean of profound peac. May it be the harbinger of renewed property.

revolutionary power. Reason has again asserted its sway almost over the entire land, and the liberty which the fathers nurtured and planted so deep in the soil of the republic has taken on new growth and vigor.

To us has been given the task of adapting this new constitution to the wants and necessities of the people. Their prosperity and their interests are made our special care.

We must not build for to-day alone, but for time. A century may pass away before the monuments you are about to erect shall have crumbled. They may be monuments of wisdom or monuments of folly, according as you may direct your zeal and apply your devotion.

The glories to be achieved must be left to time. The heroic ers has passed when men might achieve renown in a day. Through the dull dry details of legislation we must make our way to eminence, if at all. The applauding shouts of the multitude will be hushed now in the enjoyment of that peace and security which have come to the land.

The high character of the men who now sit before me gives assurance of their appreciation of their position and their determination to rise above the clamors of the hour and the alluring temptation of favor and reward into the pure and holy atmosphere of patriotism; that in their vocabulary "the state" shall mean the whole state, from its northern limit to its southern boundary, from its western confines to its ocean shore; that their concern shall be for the prosperity for each and every section so that the toundations of our temple of civil liberty may be strengthened and its pillars adorned, and that the present and generations to come after us may have their affections entiwhed about the state, and to be a Georgian may be the proudest posst, as to be a Roman was the proudest privilege of the olden time.

The work of this house must necessarily be tedious and difficult to an unusual degree. Besides the ordinary legislation always required by the changing conditions and want of the state, a new constitution is in force, and to this must be adapted the entire statute law of the state. This is constitution is novel in some of its feature; it is complicated in many respects. New laws must be originated on untried subjects, and old laws must be conformed to the changes in the organic law.

Special dispatch to the Constitution. Boston, November 6.—At a dinner give last evening by Harvard university to thi year's "eight," it was decided to recommen that the university arrange for a race with Cornell, if a crew from that college will consent to row at New London, but not at Owasco Lake. This course is rendered necessary by the fact that the meeting took a favorable view of the proposition to send a crew to England, for if that was done the Harvard crew would not have time to go further from home than New London. The sense of many present seemed to be that it was necessary to row against both the Cornell and Columbia before going to England. The proposition to row the Columbia is also favorably entertained. The matter will, however, be left to a decision of the whole college, that course being necessary to make the proceedings regular—there appearing reason to believe that the question will be decided affirmatively. that the university arrange for a race with CALLING HIM TO ORDER.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy senaccompanied with a dull, heavy sen-sation in the back part. There is gen-erally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or hurning and he comfeet are cold or burning, and he com-plains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deceased.

SIDEWALK NOTES.

Pay your bets. The city is filled with visitors. Election news was eagerly sought after yesterday.

THE CONSTITUTION office is the head-quarters of political discussions.

The weather yesterday was delightful, but a few degrees too warm for the season.

A barrel of left-over tickets were scattered on the grounds around the polls Tuesday night after the election.

way. The Madam has a new gang of females with her this season.

The first session of the Georgia legislature under the new constitution convened yesterday with a full attendance of members. In the article of Colonel Maddox on the new charter, published a day or two since, where the words, "splendid officer," occur, it should have read, "salaried officer."

The plots of grass in the city hall park, near the polls, were protected Tuesday from being trampled upon by the placing of benches around the border. This foresight upon the part of Keeper Roberts is highly commendable.

We learn that the congregation of the Second Baptist church will elect a pastor to-morrow night. There are several prominent candidates, and the choice will be of much Thoughts Upon Their The legislature that meton yesterday was notably a new one.

There are fewer of old familiar faces than we remember to have seen before. It is a fair representative body, however, and has a business look. The general impression seems to be that a long session is ahead. There will be little of the local business that has heretofore occupied so much of the time, but there is hardly a point of the new constitution that does not need "adjusting."

The crowd of spectators on yesterday was not as large as usually greets the law-makers on the first day, but the entire interest felt in the election kept the people away from the capital. The younger members may feel easy on this subject, however. The ladies will be out in full force in a day or two.

It is doubtful if any other two men could have been selected that would have won these distinguished honors without serious struggle. It is certain that two better officers who would reflect more credit on the position, or better administer the law and customs, could not be found.

The session on yesterday was short, the members being doubtless anxious to have the first day to themselves, that they might make their arrangements for the session. The feature of to-day's session will be the reading of the governor's message. This will be handed in, we suppose, early in the day, and will, as a matter of course, treat of many very important matters.

Officials.

To the Honorable Grand Jury of Fulton Superior Court-Fall Term, 1878—Gentlemen: In compliance with an order dated April 22, 1878, from the Honorable George Hillyer, judge of the superior court of Fulton county, the undersigned were appointed a "committee to inspect and examine into the finances of the county and make full report on the state of accounts between all county officers and the public, showing the state of the finances and disbursements and the condition of the several offices to the succeeding grand jury, said examination and report to commence at the close of the period covered by the former like report from a previous committee and extending to the present time," and now beg leave to submit the following report.

Not being able to find the original report of the previous committee, we were compelled to resort previous committee, we were compelled to resort to the books they had examined, and in accord-ance with their check-marks, we commenced at July 1, 1876, and ended at April 1, 1878.

The only funds of the county passing through this office are the jury fees collected by the clerk in all cases settled with him. Owing to the fact that many of the cases entered on the executive docket as settled within the time stated as the extent of our examination, had neither the amount of jury fee or confession of judgment embodied in the bill of costs as the law requires, we were compelled to have recourse to the minutes of the court, for the purpose of ascertaining how much the county was entitled to from this source, and have had the elerk to affix to all such executions not'yet settled the amount so due the county. In all the cases settled, within the time above specified, where this omission was made, the amounts on the tensure by the clerk. We would suggest that the executive docket of the clerk be made more explicit, so as to show at once-in whose hands the execution may be, or if settled, by whom and when and the date of paying over jury fee to the treasurer. In addition to this we will further recommend that the clerk keep a small book in which to enter all the cases from which he receives the tury fee and have the treasurer to receipt for same on this book giving date, in place of receipting on execution docket without any date, as is the customnow.

We cannot commend the manner of OFFICE OF CLERK OF SUPERIOR COURT.

tom now. We cannot commend the manner of doing business in this office—finding some of the indexes irregular and incomplete, and the records not as neatly kept as they should be. In an office like this, where the interests of so many of our citizens are involved, it is of the utmost importance that none but reliable and accurate assistance should be employed.

OFFICE OF SHERIFF As with the clerk's, the only funds of the county passing through this office are the jury fees on executions settled by the sheriff, all of which that have been collected during the period of our examination have been paid over to the treasurer. We recommend that the sheriff also keep a book in which to enter the cases settled by him and from which he has collected jury fees and take the receipt thereon of the treasurer for the amount of such jury fees in the same manner as recommended for the clerk.

We find that the sheriff does not enter on his docket the executions as they are turned over to

We find that the sheriff does not enter on his docket the executions as they are turned over to him by the clerk and as the law directs; but it appears that the custom in this office is to file away the executions until they are entered on the sheriff's docket with remarks accordingly. This, it seems to us, is not the proper manner of recording these executions, and we think it of the utmost importance that the sheriff keep a docket upon which to record these executions when turned over to him by the clerk and as the law directs; but it appears that the custom in this office is to file away the executions until they are settled, levied or returned nulla-bona, then they are entered on the sheriff does not enter on his docket the executions as they are turned over to him by the clerk and as the law directs; but it appears that the custom in this office is to file away the executions as they are turned over to him by the clerk and as the law directs; but it appears that the executions as they are turned over to him by the clerk and as the law directs; but it appears that the executions as they are turned over to him by the clerk and as the law directs; but it appears that the executions as they are turned over to him by the clerk and as the law directs; but it appears that the executions as they are turned over to him by the clerk and as the law directs; but it appears that the executions as they are turned over to him by the clerk and stream as the law directs; but it appears that the executions as they are turned over to him by the clerk and stream as the

The only funds passing through this office belonging to the county are derived from retail licenses and the estray fund—the former amount, $64.000, having been turned over to the county services as will appear in the statement, and the latter amount, $64.00, turned over to the county school commissioner, as the law directs.

In this office we found the books neatly kept and properly indexed and all the papers carefully filed; but owing to the system used for recording the accounts audited by the ordinary, it rendered it difficult and laborious to divide out the county expenditures under their proper heads. In order to facilitate this business, and to save the county the expense of future tedious and laborious examinations, one of our committee has drafted and the ordinary has had made a book with appropriate headings, which will show at a glance the various sources of expense and amount of each. This

We examined the book of Judge Manning, the commissioner, and find them neat and correct. The whole amount of school funds paid over to him for the years 1876 and 1877 amounts to $4,786 37-100, which amounts appear to have been properly disbursed as approved by the county school board.

COUNTY TREASURER.

In this office we found everything neat and correct, but owing to the system in use, it was with much time and labor that we were enabled to gather a detailed statement of the sources of income and expenditures of the county. And to avoid this difficulty in the future, and to save the county the expense of having to employ experist examine these accounts, a new form of eashbook has been drafted by one of our committee and a book made from it, which will be put in use on the first of October.

Hereto attached you will find statement marked "A," showing sources and amount of income and expenditures for the time hereinbefore stated from July 1, 1876, to April, 1, 1878, from which the public can see the sources from which the county receives its income and thise for which it is expended. THE SUPREME COURT. new trial.

Let the judgment of the court below be reversed.

Emmett Womack, for plaintiff in error. Clark & Pace, for defendants.

Wright vs. Wilson. Illegality, from Newton DECISIONS RENDERED NOV. 6, 1878

The defendant was indicted for the offense of murder, and on his trial therefor was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter. A motion for a new trial was made on the sole ground of newly-discovered evidence, which motion was overruled and the defendant accounted.

Wright vs. Wilson. Illegality, from Newton.

WARNER, C. J.

This case came before the court below on the trial of an issue formed on an affidavit of illegality to an execution from a justice's court, on an appeal therefrom. On the appeal tried in the superior court, the jury found the issue in favor of the plaintiff in execution. The defendant made a motion for a new trial on the grounds therein stated, which was overruled, and the defendant excepted. It appears from the evidence in the record, that Wilson had obtained sundry judgments in a justice's court against Wright, all of the same date, supposed to amount to about $650. The issue tried on the affidavit of illegality was whether the fi fa. levied on the defendant's property, was included in the following written agreement of compromise:

"I hereby a ree and promise to accept from W. J. Wright three hundred and fifty dollars in full satisfaction of the judgment claims in my favor vs. said W. J. Wright—justices court judgments, amounting now to about $650 in all—on or by the 15th day of next November, and if said sum of three hundred and fifty dollars be not paid by said time, this agreement of compromise is null and void, and said judgment claims shall be at liberty to proceed for the full amount due on them. This agreement made in consideration that said W. J. Wright shall not go into bankruptey.

(Signed) Wm. M. Wilson, Per Floyd & Middlebrooks, Attorneys for Wilson.

April 29, 1873.

"For and in consideration of the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars this sole ground of newly-discovered evidence, which motion was overruled and the defendant excepted.

It appears from the evidence in the record, that the alleged offense was committed a short time before the trial; that the defendant was badly cut and had been confined in jail up to the time of trial. The affidavit of the newly-discovered witness states that she was present and saw the difficulty between deceased and defendant, and that she would swear, amongst other things, that Tony Mason, the deceased, said to defendant: "I got one child by your sister, and I will be damned if I don't get another one if I can; defendant told deceased not to throw that up to him, deceased said by God I am a man; the quarrel commenced when deceased told defendant about the child deceased was trying very hard to get to the Thompson boys, and deceased ut defendant in the thigh before deceased was cut. The Thompson boys did not try to get to deceased. After deceased cut defendant in the thigh he tried very hard to cut him again. The whole crowd was drunk" As suming Ann Eliza Gunn to be a credible witness (and there is nothing in the record going to show that she is not) then her evidence upon another trial, in view of the evidence had on the former trial, might

April 29, 1873.

"For and in consideration of the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars this day paid to me by D. W. Spence, one hundred and ninety-five of it in money, and the other one hundred and fity-five by a due bill on the said Spence, I have this day transferred to the said D. W. Spence all the fi. fas, issued from the justice's court of the 477th district G. M., in favor of W. M. Wilson vs. W. J. Wright, said fi. fas. being compromised to the amount above stated without recourse. Nov. 14th, 1873.

W. M. WILSON, Per L. L. Middlebrook, Att'y for Wilson."

The payment made by Spence was made for Wright, and with his money. According to the terms of the contract, it was evidently the intention of the parties to compromise all the judgment claims of Wilson against Wright, obtained in the justice's court, but the plaintiff says it was only intended to compromise such of the judgment claims as were in Middlebrook's hands, and that the fi. fa. to which the affidavit of illegality was made, was not in his hands, but was in the hearty of the relaintiff though of the going to show that she is not) then her evi-dence upon another trial, in view of the evidence had on the former trial, might produce a different result, inasmuch as the evidence is material and is not merely cum-ulative. Besides the judge who overruled the motion for a new trial, was not the same judge who presided at the trial of the case. On the statement of facts contained if the record, a new trial is ordered. case. On the statement of the record, a new trial is ordered.

Let the judgment of the court below be reversed.

McKibben & Anderson, for plaintiff i F. D. Dismuke, solicitor general, by Jan B. Boynton, for the state.

WARNER, C. J.

The defendant was inicted for the offense of carrying upon his person a pistol concealed, and upon his trial therefor, was found guilty. A motion was made for a new trial or the second state of the second state. was made, was not in his hands, but was in the hands of the plaintiff, though of the same date as the others. The written contract does not say that the compromise was to be confined to the judgment claims in Middlebrook's hands, and if that written contract by migrate or otherwise does not found guilty. A motion was made for a new trial on the several grounds therein set forth, which was overruled, and the defendant excepted. The defendant filed a plea that he had been put in jeopardy on a former trial for the same offense on the same indictment, and was therefore entitled to an acquittal. It appears from the evidence in the record that at a former term of the court, at which a mistrial was had in the case, a jury was selected for the trial of the defendant, but whether sworn or not, the evidence is conflicting, that the Middlebrook's hands, and if that written contract, by mistake or otherwise, does not speak the truth according to the intention of the parties, then let the plaintiff file his replication to the defendant's affidavit of illegality in the nature of a short bill in equity under our practice, and allege wnerein the written contract does not speak the truth. If any part of the contract between the parties was omitted by mistake, allege that fact, so as to lay the foundation for the introduction of the evidence to reform the written contract, if it needs reformation, but until that is done, the written contract is the best evidence of what trial of the defendant, but whether sworn or not, the evidence is conflicting, that the defendant had been arraigned, and the solicitor general was reading the indictment to the jury when it was discovered that two of the jurors had been on the grand jury that found the bill of indictment against the dendant, when the court discharged that jury, and impanneled another jury over defendant's objections. This was done before any evidence had been submitted to the jury by the prosecuting officer for the state. It does not appear that the disqualification of the jurors was known to either party until the indictment was being read, as before stated. According to the interpretation given to the tormation, but until that is done, the writern contract is the best evidence of what was intended to be embraced in the compromise. The plaintiff in his transfer of the fi. fas. to Spence evidently thought that he was transferring all the fi. fas. issued from was transferring all the fi. fas, issued from the justice's court of the 477th district of the justice's court of the 477th district of G. M. in his favor against Wright, in pursuance of the contract of compromise, because it is so stated in the transfers. In view of the facts of this case we think the court erred in overruling the defendant's motion face over trial tion for a new trial.

Simms & Dickson, for plaintiff in error;
Emmett Womack, for defendant, indictment was being read, as before stated. According to the interpretation given to the 4681st section of the code by this court, in Jackson vs. the State, 51st Geo. Rep. 402, there would have been no error in withdrawing the two disqualified jurors and substituting two others in their place, who were not disqualified, or as was done in this case, withdrawing the whole panel and furnishing the defendant with another unobjectionable panel and therefore the defendictionable panel and therefore the defendictions. Kennedy et al. vs. Leamans, ordinary, et al. Mandamus, from Rockdale. nishing the defendant with another unobjectionable panel, and therefore the defendant was not put in jeopardy, in contemplation of the law; and that being so, the question whether the jury were sworn or not sworn, when the two disqualified jurors relevant question. As to the newly discovered evidence, defendant knew what Aycock had sworn at the verying term of the court. WARNER, C. J.

WARNER, C. J.

This was an application by the complainants to the judge of the superior court for a mandamus requiring the ordinary of Rockdale county to audit their account and the treasurer of said county to pay them $2.00 per day for their services as jurors upon a coroner's inquest held in said county, or show cause why they should not do so. The mandamus nisi was granted, and made returnable to the April term of the superior court, at which term the court, after hearing and considering the answers of the oring and considering the answers of the or-dinary and treasurer, refused to grant an order making the madamus absolute, whereorder making the madamus absolute, whereupon the complainants excepted.

We are not aware of any law which makes provision for the payment of $2.00 per day, or any other sum, to jurors serving upon coroner's inquests in this state. Before an officer can be required to pay out public money, or be justified in doing so, those who demand its payment should be able to show a clear provision of the law which entitles them to receive it. There was no error in refusing to grant an absolute mandamus on the statement of facts contained in the record.

Lee vs. Clark, Rosser & Co. Claim, from WARNER, C. J.

This was a claim case, on the trial of which, the jury, under the charge of the court, found the property not subject to the fi fa. levied thereon. A motion was made for a new trial on the grounds therein stated, which was overruled, and the plaintiff excepted. The judgment on which the fi fa. issued, was obtained in September, 1876, the levy having been made on the property in possession of the defendant, on the 31st of October, 1876. The claimants claimed title to the property levied on under the following instrument, and two others exactly like it, except one was dated the 6th of June, 1876, and the sum of $300 was to be paid by the 15th of October, 1876, and the sum of $1,000 was to be paid by the 15th of October, 1876:

WARNER, C. J.

The plaintiffs, Adair & Brothers, sued the defendants, Henderson and Lee, on a note for $154 given for guano. The defendants pleaded that the note was given to the plaintiffs for a commercial manure commonly called "Pacific Guano," which was worthless and of no value whatever, and that the note was fraudulently procured, &c. On the trial of the case, the jury found a verdict for the plaintiffs. A motion was made for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was contrary to law, and the evimade for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was contrary to law, and the evidence, which motion was overruled, and the defendants excepted. The evidence was conflicting, and if the jury thought proper to believe the evidence for the plaintiffs instead of that for the defendants, it was their privilege to do so, and as there is sufficient evidence in the record to support the verdict, it was not contrary to law, nor contrary to the evidence. other property mentioned therein to the claimants, or is it in its legal effect a mortgage to secure the payment of the sum of $500.00 to Clark, Rosser & Co. by 15th of October. 1876, for provisions furnished by them to Cook, to enable him to make his crop for that year? Construing this instrument in view of, the acts and conduct of the parties to it, we think it was a mortgage on the crop to secure the payment of the $500.00 due by the defendant to Clark, Rosser & Co. for provisions furnished him to enable him to make it, and that it was a mortgage on the horses and mules, to secure the performance of the defendant to secure the performance of the defendant is covenant and agreement as stipulated in the instrument. The fact that the claimants took from the defendant was stipulated in the instrument, and agreement as stipulated in the instrument, and agreement as stipulated in the instrument, and the fact that the claimants took from the defendant was made and the secure the property by the defendant to them on the 24th of March, 1876, surely they would not have purchased back their own property on the 6th of June and 4th of September thereafter, there being no evidence of any reconveyance of the property by the claimants to the defendant after the 28th of March, 1876. Besides the defendant was required to waive his homestead exemption upon all the property named in the contract, and did waive it, which would not have been necessary, if it had been a sale of the property, as the defendant could not have had a homestead in the claimants property.

In view of the provisions of the instrument, and the acts and conduct of the parties to it, our best integent is that it is a mortgage and did not convey the legal title to the property therein mentioned to the claimants, and that the court erred Mrs. V. C. Eldridge, the wonderful spirit medium, will receive calls at the residence of Colonel Brumby, 124 South Pryor street, for one week only. Clarke has just received all the new and nobby styles of the season in hats. "Tis Sweet to Love, but Oh! how Bitter."
Their acquaintance began auspiciously, beautiful, amiable and interesting. Her loveliness excited the admiration of all who beautiful, amable and interesting. Here loveliness excited the admiration of all who knew her, and it is not strange that after a few meetings the Aurora of love irradiated his skies, and he wandered in a blissful dream of happiness. His wooing progressed favorably, and might have terminated successfully, had he not told his love in a voice which sent a shudder through her frame, and produced a feeling of revulsion fatal to his hopes. He should not have appeared in the refined presence of his lady-love when laboring under the disadvantage of a bad cold, when he could have rid himself of itsoesily by the use of Coussens' Compound Honey of Tar, a never failing remedy for Coughs, Colds and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Keep Guard.

A bad cold or cough, the most insidious of all the evils which afflict mankind, readily yields to Coussens' Compound of Honey of Tar, and a practical test of its virtues has never failed to convince the most skeptical that it is the best remedy ever offered the public for Coughs, Colds and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. The editor of one of our religious papers says that a friend of his suffering with Asthma, informs him that he experienced more benefit from the use of Coussens' Compound Honey of Tar, than from all the various remedies he has tried. If you have a bad cold or cough, remember that Coussens' Compound Honey of Tar will speedily relieve you. It is sold by Collier & Co. and Hunt, Rankin & Lamar, at 50 cents a Bottle.
